Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs) are key components to strong CTE programs. CTSOs integrate into CTE programs and courses and extend teaching and learning through innovative programs, business and community partnerships and leadership experiences at the school, state and national levels.

- CTSOs provide relevant, engaging programs that improve student achievement, reduce dropout rates and help students discover the wide range of career options available.
- CTSOs engage the community and local businesses to help students understand global competition and chart effective and efficient pathways through high school and postsecondary education for their personal success.
- CTSO programs, such as industry based competitive events and community service, provide students with the opportunity to develop 21st Century Skills focused on creativity, problem solving, teamwork and goal setting.
- CTSOs bring relevance to the classroom and prepare students to be college and career ready.

The impact that CTSOs make in our state is quite astonishing. We invite you to review this publication to see how Career and Technical Student Organizations are contributing to learning that works in our state.

California Fact Sheet

CTE STATE OVERVIEW

At the secondary level, CTE is delivered through comprehensive high schools; magnet programs and schools, which are programs in a school (sometimes an entire school itself) that focus on a special area such as science or career education; California Partnership Academies, which are schools-within-a-school that incorporate integrated academic and career and technical education, business partnerships, mentoring and internships; and Regional Occupational Centers and Programs (ROCPs). At the postsecondary and adult levels, courses are offered at ROCPs, adult schools, community colleges and through apprenticeship programs. ROCPs, a unique part of the California CTE system, provide career and workforce preparation for high school students and adults, preparation for advanced training and the upgrading of existing skills. Courses may be offered in a variety of places, from high school campuses to actual workplaces, such as hospitals.

Learning that works.

Nine organizations. One common mission.

Career and Technical Student Organizations (CTSOs) provide the American education system the tools to educate the student for college and careers in ways that are uniquely American. By integrating into Career and Technical Education programs and courses, CTSOs extend teaching and learning through networks of programs, business and community partnerships and leadership experiences at the school, state and national levels with different opportunities to learn academic, technical and employability skills, which American business and industry say are necessary in today's workforce.

Connecting classrooms to a large network.

Each of the nine CTSOs focus on specific career fields and tailors their programing to the students, teachers and businesses in those fields. With its singular focus on a specific set of career areas (Career Clusters), each CTSO develops partnerships with business and industry, teachers and colleges and at the local, state and national levels that support and enhance student development in unique ways.

Each organization operates independently with school-based chapters, state-based associations and national offices creating opportunities and experiences that a school or even a state could not achieve on their own.

At the national, state and local levels, CTSOs offer diverse programming that is designed to enhance classroom instruction and four common organizational goals: academic and career achievement, leadership development, professional development; and community service.

At the local level, CTSO chapters operate as in-school, co-curricular programs led by CTE teachers as advisers in middle schools, high schools and postsecondary institutions.

The U.S. Congress has specifically authorized CTSOs in the Perkins Act, and they operate as national not-for-profit organizations divided into state associations and local school chapters. Funds from the Perkins Act can be used to support local CTSOs.

Students are the core of each organization.

Students participating in CTSOs learn contextualized academic instruction and have the opportunity to work in settings where the career skills learned in the classroom can be utilized. Participation in a local chapter includes activities designed to expand students' leadership abilities, contextualize their academic instruction, encourage them to pursue their education and equip them with job-related skills in their career field of interest. Students are also able to develop leadership, teamwork, creativity and technical skills.

Students participate in local, state, national and international career-based competitions, aligned with state academic standards, designed to measure their academic understanding and skills development.

Scholarships and awards also encourage students to continue their career-path education and assume personal responsibility for their own career readiness.

By providing students with contextualized academic instruction and the opportunity to work in settings where the career skills learned in the classroom can be utilized, CTSOs effectively facilitate the development of students' academic, technical and employability skills.

ACADEMIC AND TECHNICAL SKILLS

CTSOs apply learning through classroom activities and programs, such as competitive events, that provide unique opportunities to motivate students to demonstrate classroom instruction. CTSOs engage businesses in the education process to identify essential career ready skills.

EMPLOYABILITY SKILLS

Making an Impact

With more than 1.5 million student members combined, CTSOs have a definite impact on students' overall college and career readiness:

Students who participate in CTSOs demonstrate higher levels of academic engagement and motivation, civic engagement, career self-efficacy and employability skills than other students, and the more students participate in CTSO activities, the better the results.

According to the National Research Center for Career and Technical Education, participating in leadership and professional development activities in a CTSO raises students' educational aspirations.

Students who participate in school organizations in 10th grade have higher high school grade point average and are more likely to be enrolled in college at 21 than other students.
